MPS Management process

At abrdrn, we have a clearly defined investment policy and devote significant resources to ensuring that it's consistently delivered and continuously developed. We follow the same six key steps when building all the MPS portfolios, within a robust governance framework.

“Regardless of the investment approach selected, all clients benefit from the same rigorous portfolio construction and dynamic asset allocation process.”

Integrating sustainable investing

The abrdn Sustainable MPS and Sustainable Index MPS offer a comprehensive investment solution, each targeting five different levels of risk. They are built using best of breed sustainable funds from the whole of the market, including where appropriate, our own abrdn investment funds.

"We believe in the power of investment. When you invest in good things, good things can happen."

"Investing for a better future is our vision. We believe that sustainable investing should be available to everyone."

Our Four Pillars framework is a crucial part of our research process and is used to assess the sustainability credentials of funds and managers.

Four pillars: a clear and transparent approach abrdn Sustainable MPS and abrdn Sustainable Index MPS invest in funds that include environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors in their assessment of the risks and opportunities of individual companies. By using this framework, fund managers gain a deeper understanding of companies' operations, allowing them to avoid companies with dubious business practices and invest in more sustainable businesses. We expect companies with sustainable business practices to outperform over time as they have stronger reputations, increased market share, increased profits and better revenue growth prospects.

Active stewardship and engagement

abrdn and the external fund managers invested within Sustainable MPS and Sustainable Index MPS portfolios use their influence to hold companies to account, to encourage positive behaviours and exercise voting rights on the issues that matter.

Avoiding harm

abrdn Sustainable MPS and abrdn Sustainable Index MPS invest in funds that actively aim to avoid controversial sectors or practices that are doing demonstrable harm to the environment and society, for example:

- Controversial weapons manufacturing.
- Companies that don't meet UN standards on human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption (UN Global Compact).
- Tobacco production.

Positive impact

As well as avoiding companies that do harm, we use funds within the Sustainable MPS portfolios that invest in companies whose activities have a measurable positive impact on some of the most important issues facing the planet and society. These issues include areas such as climate change, poverty, sanitation, financial inclusion, access to clean water, hunger, among many others.

abrdn has the scale and capacity to provide excellent levels of relationship and administrative support. Your primary point of contact will be a member of the business development team who'll manage the relationship and act as your first port of call for all abrdn matters.

We'll agree frequency of contact and face-to-face meetings at outset to ensure you meet your governance requirements.

There's also a range of literature available to help you deliver your service to your clients. This includes:

- Investment strategy factsheets – containing strategy explanation, portfolio holdings, asset class breakdowns and biographies for our Investment team, updated on a monthly basis.
- Quarterly reports – containing economic commentary and outlook, performance commentary, and changes to portfolio holdings over the quarter.
- Quarterly governance presentations – delivered by an aligned business development manager covering quarterly drivers of portfolio behaviour, portfolio performance, changes to asset allocation and funds, rationale for any changes and future expectations.

The portfolios are all visible via FE Analytics to give you additional independent information via your system if applicable.

When we created MPS, we started with client goals and values as the foundation and built on that foundation with an understanding of the advice process.

“We ensure our investment portfolios are built in such a way as to link to client and adviser values, investment philosophy and personal objectives – and we align this to the advice process.”
